

Fair races reset today: Court to cool pickets?

Fireworks fire

Firefighters yesterday took to the roof to battle a blaze at 9600 Broadmoor Drive in San Ramon that caused an estimated $45,000 damage. Valley Community Services District Fire Department personnel said the 1 p.m. blaze was apparently started by a "bottle-rocket" fired by children playing in the area. Fourteen men and four pieces of equipment responded to the two-alarm fire. The top of the house sustained $35,000 damage, while contents valued at $10,000 were lost, a spokesman estimated. It took 30 minutes to quell the blaze and three hours for clean-up. No one was injured, as the Olluason family, residents of the home, are currently vacationing in Sweden. See related story on page 2.

Five cent tax increase in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — The city council approved a five cent tax increase for the coming year on a 3-2 vote late Monday night.

Mayor Robert Philcox, Vice-Mayor Joyce LeClaire and Councilman William Herlihy approved the increase; Councilmen Ken Mercer and Frank Brandes opposed it.

Philcox said the increase would amount to 50 cents a month or $6 a year on the average Pleasanton home worth $50,000. He noted that the council went over the budget carefully and cut some proposed items, but he felt that any further cuts would impair the level of city services.

Two citizens, Wally Mayer speaking for the CARD Committee and Jim Jordan speaking for himself, called for no increase in taxes. Jordan read a long list of specific cuts he recommended and said the tax rate could fall if his recommended cuts totaling $133,000 were adopted.

Mercer, whose proposed cuts concentrated on slicing travel expenses beyond the 25 per cent reduction already adopted and a few other categories, told Jordan that some of his proposals were unrealistic.

Complaints, possible suit follow Main Street parade-police mishap

PLEASANTON — The Police Department is under fire this week for its response to an emergency in the midst of Sunday's Bicentennial Parade on Main Street.

Viewers and participants are upset with an officer who motored through the parade answering a "Code Three" call. "Code three" means siren, lights, emergency involved. He was responding to a possible heart attack victim at a Main Street bar.

But a later check with the hospital failed to determine the victim's problem.

Eye witnesses along the parade route say the officer drove on to Main Street from Angela Street at a speed, in their opinion, that was unsafe for prevailing conditions, causing the police car to "fishtail."

The Weldonians Band of the Bay Area was facing the judges stand located in front of the Pleasanton Police Department building on Main. They neither heard the sirens or saw the vehicle approaching them.

A police officer stationed on Division and Main saw the police car heading toward the group and immediately responded by running out to get the children off the street. Others in the crowd joined him in taking the parade participants to safety.

Those children involved became upset, cried, threw their instruments into the air and ran on to the sidewalk. One child was spotted walking down the street in a daze and then passed out according to a witness.

Following treatment by the Red Cross, she was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital in Livermore, was treated for "fainting" and released.

After the emergency was over, Ed McFaddin and Bob D'Arcy, workers of the parade crew, asked the officer how fast he thought he was going. According to the gentlemen, the officer replied, "doing at least 25 miles per hour."

A meeting with Lt. David Freeman was called Monday, to inform police of community feelings of concern on what could have happened. Assurance was sought against a repeat of the incident.

Persons in attendance at the meeting were unhappy with Freeman's attitude that he didn't know why the group was upset because no one was hurt.

"It was not the group's intention," stated an individual who was at the meeting, "to create any trouble for the officer. No one wanted him dismissed or anything like that," she continued. "We merely wanted discipline measures taken."

Freeman indicated the officer was in his line of duty and was instructed to take the closest route possible.

As far as the question of speeding, Freeman indicated had not as yet been checked out and only if a formal complaint were received would an investigation of the incident be made.

It was his feeling the matter could be taken care of internally.

According to a reliable source, the Weldonians Band will file a formal complaint with the Police Department by Thursday of this week with statements from the Blue Angels backing the complaint. The Blue Angels were immediately behind the Weldonians.

On the basis of an injunction order that was to be signed at mid-morning today by Superior Court Judge George Phillips, the Alameda County Fair Association has scheduled horse racing to start this afternoon at the fairgrounds in Pleasanton with a 1:30 first post.

Fairgrounds administration, headed by secretary-manager Lee Hall, went about the process of informing racing officials and the various service unions of the order Tuesday evening.

Hall said if any of the service groups, such as pari-mutuel clerks, concessions people, admissions and totalisator personnel fail to report to work, they would be in violation of agreements with the association.

By early evening, Hall had received assurances from totalisator, admissions and usherette leaders they would have their personnel on duty today.

However, Bob McAnally, spokesman for the Northern California Board of Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, cast doubt on the number of horsemen that would participate.

The HBPA presented Hall with a letter yesterday afternoon saying the Pleasanton facility, in their opinion, was not in condition for racing at this time. McAnally said that if a result of inspection this morning left the same conclusion, they would advise members not to race.

Hall declined to comment on the HBPA letter, saying the fairgrounds staff had kept the track in condition and stewards and other race officials were in support of the fair association's move to schedule racing today.

Fair attendance plummeted for the second straight day Monday, just 7,175 being counted through the gates.

On the first Monday of the 1975 fair, 17,706 came through. The corresponding figure in 1971 was 19,899.

Hot weather the previous day, lack of racing and general uncertainty caused by the county employees' strike were pegged as reasons for the drastic drop in attendance.

The barns at Pleasanton currently have about 300 horses with another 500 at Golden Gate Fields and 400 at Vallejo.

With each lost day of racing at Pleasanton, horsemen are losing approximately $50,000 in purses.

The amount in purses offered at respective fair race meetings this season have a direct impact on how much is put up for next year. Thus, if several or all of the daily racing programs were called off, the purses would be proportionately less next year.

The 75 Pleasanton season was a record breaker with near $1 million average daily handles at the track.

Tuesday action

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Superior court judge George W. Phillips, Jr., yesterday agreed to a preliminary injunction that fair officials say opens the gates to racing today.

Fair board secretary - manager Lee Hall bolted from the courtroom to a pay phone to confer with race officials after the judge's decision and said racing would be scheduled for today.

Hall said he would explain the judge's decision, which has yet to be signed and still may be revoked, to unions locked out by the 29-day-old strike and ask them to start work immediately.

If racing does not start by Friday, Hall said, the entire meet will be scratched. "We won't be able to make our overhead."

The judge continued hearings to this morning when he is scheduled to sign the injunction.

Spokesmen for the striking union, who have claimed assurances from fellow unions that they would not cross the lines, would not comment on the judge's order. The Alameda County Central Labor Council has called a press conference for early this morning, promising only to comment on the strike.

Judge Phillips said effects of the strike are "of deep, local concern and responsibility," and hence not within the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board as argued by union attorneys.

His order prohibits "striking pickets," but allows "informational picketing." The judge said he would not interfere with the pickets' first and fourteenth amendment rights to free speech.

The temporary restraining order signed two weeks ago by Presiding Superior Court Judge Robert K. Barber remains in effect until Judge Phillips signs the preliminary injunction.

Until then, and perhaps even after the signing, the ball is in the union's court.

Judge Barber's order also limited picketing to "informational lines," but unions representing race attendants have refused to cross them.

Officials of those locals could not be reached for comment yesterday.

Meanwhile, attorneys for the union still are protesting the court's jurisdiction as well as legal service of the temporary restraining order.

If the order is found not to have been served properly, or if a higher court rules the case out of the state court's jurisdiction and into the National Labor Relations Board, it could be back to square one.

Union and county workers testified Monday and Tuesday over service of the restraining order, claiming it was not properly served.

Six pickets face possible contempt citations this morning in Judge Barber's court for possibly violating his order.

At the county level, board of supervisors chairman Fred Cooper said he and supervisor John Murphy met with union and labor leaders Monday night in the first face-to-face negotiations in more than a week.

County officials met with Alameda County Central Labor Council Secretary-Treasurer Dick Groulx, union negotiator John Bowers and union leader Tim Tooney for three hours at the Oakland labor temple.

Neither the board nor the union would comment on the substance of the talks.

Cooper and Murphy briefed the rest of the board and county officials in executive session for more than an hour before beginning yesterday's scheduled agenda.

The strike ends its fourth week with both sides apparently entrenched in polarized positions.

Lab unveils world's strongest laser

LIVERMORE — Researchers at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory have begun experiments on the world's most powerful laser system. Called "Argus," the system is the third in a series of four laser systems to be designed and built at LLL to demonstrate that laser fusion — the harnessing of the energy source of the sun and the stars to produce clean, virtually inexhaustible energy on earth — is feasible.

Built over the last 12 months at a cost of about $3.5 million, work on Argus is supported by the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration.

At a briefing yesterday to introduce the new system to the press, LLL Director Dr. Roger Batzel said it will be the turn of the century before the laser fusion program will make a major contribution to the U.S. energy situation.

The immediate goal is to establish the scientific feasibility of laser fusion. Researchers hope to reach scientific breakeven — the point at which the amount of energy put into the system equals the amount of energy produced — within five or six years.

LLL Associate Director for Lasers Dr. John Emmett explained the attractiveness of laser fusion. "If fusion works, every gallon of water used will be equal to about 300 gallons of gasoline, and we'll get the gallon of water back," he said.

Argus is not designed to generate usable power or even to show scientific breakeven. Rather, it will enable researchers to test concepts to be applied in future laser systems.

Argus is the most powerful laser system to date, capable of producing twice as much power as is generated by all the power plants in the U.S. combined.

In simplified terms, a laser is a device used to generate very intense beams of light lasting less than a billionth of a second that can be focused onto a small target.

In the Argus system, a single laser pulse equivalent to ten million watts is generated, amplified and split into two beams by a mirror.

The two pulses race along parallel paths, amplified 500,000 times, by special energized laser glass.

Positioned in the target chamber at the end of the two paths is a tiny glass pellet, only slightly wider than a human hair, filled with fuel. The two pulses are trained down to irradiate the tiny target from opposite sides.

When they reach the target, each pulse contains a trillion watts of power. For less than a billionth of a second, the two pulses irradiate the pellet with twice as much power as can be generated by all the electrical plants in the country.

The Argus system is not yet complete. Earlier this month, with only a single pulse of light, more than 70 million neutrons were yielded in an irradiation experiment — the largest number ever produced in a laser fusion experiment but equal to only about one - millionth of the energy put into the system.

Success in the target irradiation experiment is measured by the number of neutrons the experiment yields.

Researchers expect the neutron yield will increase to more than 100 million in full power Argus irradiations to begin this summer.

Argus is the forerunner of Shiva, LLL's giant laser system soon to be constructed.

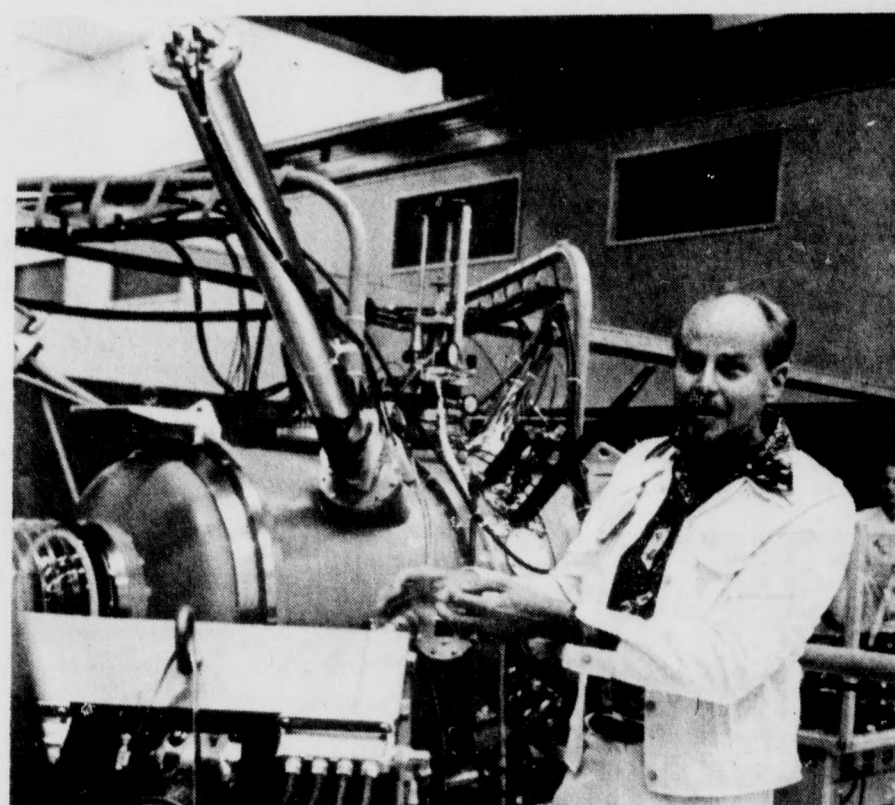

With twenty laser beam pulses, Shiva will be ten times more powerful than the two-beam Argus.

It is on Shiva that researchers hope to prove the scientific feasibility of laser fusion.

The next step, Dr. Emmett said, will be to get high energy gains, perhaps 100 times the energy put in, using an upgraded Shiva system.

But the critical date, for LLL and the U.S., will be around 1983. That, according to Dr. Emmett, is when the U.S. will have to make a major decision on which new domestic energy source to develop. Success with Argus, and later with Shiva, will be important to determine the role laser fusion will play in America's energy future.

Youth arrested in possession of burglary tools

PLEASANTON — A 15-year-old Pleasanton youth sitting in a car on Sandalwood Drive was arrested after police discovered possible burglary tools on the floorboard and a wire wrapped around the passenger door's lock button.

Officer Donald Saulsbury spotted the youth in a car parked on Sandalwood Drive about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday. When the driver told Saulsbury that the car was not his, he was ordered from the car. The officer then noticed a car antenna bent and hooked around the lock button of the right passenger door.

Suspected burglary tools were laying on the floorboard, and a tote bag containing tools and parts to a stolen tape deck was found.

The youth reportedly admitted taking the tape deck, saying he saw it "and wanted it." He also admitted that the tools were his, police said.

The youth was booked on suspicion of trespassing and burglary.

Concord Street home burglarized over weekend

PLEASANTON — Burglars entered the Concord Street home of William Frank Williams Jr. over the weekend and took $1,375 in valuables.

Police could find no signs of forced entry into the home. Burglars took several firearms from a bedroom closet, then fled through a sliding glass door, police reported.

Missing items include a Winchester 12-gauge shotgun worth $600, Smith and Wesson .357 revolver, Browning and Remington brand 20-gauge shotguns, .32-caliber pistol, a Remington .22-caliber pistol, and Winchester 12-gauge shotgun.

Police have no clues in the theft.

Truck on Juarez Lane loses CB unit to burglars

DUBLIN — Burglars removed a citizens band radio and pocket calculator from a truck parked on Juarez Lane early yesterday while the owner watched, deputies reported yesterday.

William Milton told deputies that he got up about 3:45 a.m. Tuesday looked out a window and saw a man inside his 1970 Scout truck. Milton called the Sheriff's department but deputies arrived after the suspect left and could not find him in the area.

Deputies said entry was made by forcing a wing window to the vehicle. Missing items include a 23-channel CB radio worth $230 and a Texas Instruments pocket calculator valued at $100.

No prints could be found at the scene.

Foothill folks want fireworks caution

Following a rooftop fire at a home on Applewood Way in Pleasanton which was allegedly caused by fireworks, residents in the Foothill area have become concerned with the seasonal barrage of firecrackers. Damage to the home was minor since the residents were home and able to get immediate help. They pointed out, however, that the next door neighbors are on vacation. An errant fireworks blast there could have caused serious damage.

Because of this, and with fire conditions at an all-time high, residents are concerned about their homes, and the threat of grass fires. The area is surrounded by dry, grassy fields. Homeowners are complaining about children who detonate their charges in nearby storm drains, upsetting pets with their loud blasts.

There is a city ordinance prohibiting the sale, possession or discharging of fireworks in Pleasanton. But according to Lt. Dave Freeman of the Pleasanton Police Department, there is an increase of their use. He attributed that to a county action permitting the sale of fireworks in unincorporated areas, like Dublin. The Valley Communities Services District has been opposed to fireworks sales.

Even though they are available just minutes away, fireworks are still illegal in Pleasanton, Freeman pointed out.

New pact hailed in lot fight

PLEASANTON — The city council upheld residents' opposition to the parking lot proposed for Chris Berattis' Hopyard Road shopping center Monday night.

The vote was 4-1 with Mayor Robert Philcox the lone opponent to the council decision. The action was taken "without prejudice" so that Berattis can come in with a new plan during the next 12 months, something he could not have done with an unqualified denial of his plan.

At the heart of the residents' dissatisfaction was Berattis' design of a parking lot next to the backyards of properties on Longspur Drive. He originally proposed a small landscaped buffer, but later agreed to expand it to 10 feet along the length of the property line.

It still wasn't enough, and the neighbors were glad the council rejected it. They also were pleased with a compromise suggested by Councilman Ken Mercer: expand the landscape buffer to 29 feet, shave off enough space at the center's buildings and put the displaced 24 parking spaces there.

The council voted 4-1 to recommend that solution to the planning commission for Berattis' next round on the item.

The Joan Winton Dancers — Tori Ruslender, Francy Francis, Melody Francis and Cathy Cordtz — are among the enthusiastic community entertainers slated for Dublin's Fourth of July celebration.

Dublin plans its weekend

A three-day, fun-filled celebration has been planned by Dublin and San Ramon to highlight our nation's 200th Birthday with an 18th Century Faire. Starting at 10 each morning, the Shannon Community Center and Park will be the site of festivities, July 3, 4 and 5.

Donning costumes reminiscent of revolutionary times, community organizations, churches, and valley artists will be on hand, and they promise that, not only their dress, but the food, customs, games and all activities will duplicate the merriment of that era.

Those attending are urged to wear bicentennial dress to compete in the daily handmade costumes contests. They'll also help to put you in the mood for the taffy pulling, gold panning or square dancing. Or maybe watching the weaver's card their wool, or the soap carvers and glass blowers demonstrate their art would better suit your fancy.

Whatever the color of your mood, it promises to be gay. Under the chairmanship of Bob Elliott, the Faire committee has packed such a variety of activities for the three days, as to appeal to every age group and make Festival '76 truly a memorable one.

There will be pony-cart rides for the pre-schoolers, films and games for the pre-teens and teens, arts and crafts for adult food and entertainment for everyone.

Maid of Dublin Angela Rosas will be sharing the musical spotlight with The Faith Deliverance Chow, The San Leandro Municipal Band, The Barbary Coast Banjo Band and The Golden Statesmen Barber Shop Quartet. Saturday night Shannon Center will rock to the Western sounds of Chuck Wayne and his Country Cut-ups.

Monday will feature the cultures of Mexico and Portugal with the Ballet Folklorico and a Portuguese Folk Dance group sharing the dancing spotlight.

Entertainment will be continuous and the displays, foods, entertainment and games are being kept in the era 1776.

The mayors have a summit

We would hope that the mid-summer date or the fun-filled County Fairgrounds setting for their next session would not distract Alameda County's mayors from the more serious matters at hand.

These quarterly gatherings of municipal leaders are well intended, but not always that productive. It is certainly not because there are no topics worthy of high-level attention.

Truth is America's cities have never been worse off, and suburbia is not far behind. You don't have to read New York's financial sheet — just look at Livermore's current budget — to understand the economic bind which now confronts "organized American society." It is because we have sought organization, and civilization, that we seem to be in ever-increasing debt.

At a time when one-third of our dollars are being siphoned off by the Feds, and most of that spent on schemes of international scope, cities such as Livermore cannot afford sufficient police, Pleasanton must operate with dangerously low fire crews, and hamlets such as Dublin must read of their "high tax yield" while still unable to properly maintain even one community swimming pool.

It would seem that "the times are out of joint." Before we all wind up in traction, somebody had best start viewing priorities from the bottom up. The presidential primaries of recent date give little hope that we are really prepared to "turn this nation around."

If the engineer can't lead us in a U-turn, then maybe the guys in the caboose can. There is no better time to start than the July 7 scheduled session of the Alameda County Mayors Conference. There is no better place than the Fairgrounds which have been the gathering place for county employees who find themselves trapped between public demand for greater economy, and Washington's insistence for spending us into new inflationary spirals.

If the ponies aren't running on July 7, Mr. Mayor, maybe you could put two dollars on Suburbia in the first. It's not only a good bet, it's the only one most of us have.

Class of '76

The valedictorian could not resist orating on "a new beginning for a new 200 years in our nation's history." The superintendent balanced that by asking the assembled parents to look back, to the last school tax hike they failed to approve.

Graduation, 1976, was not just another of your every-June commences. For one thing, there was a strange new flag sharing the pole with Old Glory. Old or new, the glory is much the same. The promise is little changed, from June to June.

Maybe that's not so bad, in a democracy that prides itself on "the world's greatest public education system." It is because our elementary and high schools have been persistent, predictable even, that rich kids and poor kids, black kids and white kids, can look forward to a fair start on this old world. At least that's true in most of these United States.

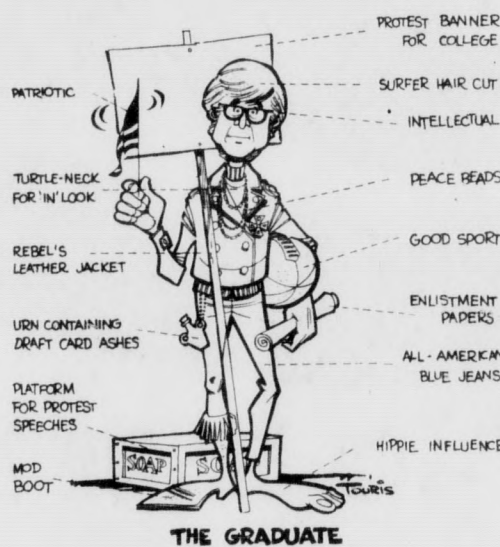

It is not true for a staggering majority of the world's societies, representing perhaps 80 percent of the world's people. There are no "public schools" in most of the Communist countries; there are few such opportunities in much of South America, for the majority of Africans, for all but a few Asians.

Even in England's freedom-bound borders, there is strong evidence of economic advantage in the makeup of that nation's classrooms. France, Italy, Greece — none of them offer the across-the-board educational system we Californians afford our children. Few pay their teachers anything like the California scale.

Perhaps that should be the message, for the Class of '76. If only the valedictorian had done a little research on classrooms around the world, and then compared with our own public school. Perhaps even the dissident student, nipping at a bottle in anticipation of his long-sought release, might think for a moment at what he is being released from, to go where.

Fundamental or liberal, regimented or undisciplined, the public schools in our community are among the nation's finest, against a world standard that has little to compare.

We would have hoped that would be the valedictory for the Class of 1976. Perhaps, in the months and years ahead, some of them might still get the message.

Hot issue

There was infinite reason to curse last week's heat storm. (Don't dispute the phraseology because five consecutive days of blast furnace temperatures is an aberration of the human condition, and in my book, that's a storm.)

In our house alone it cost a month's salary worth of indoor plants. The wife, who has a psychological need to fondle leaves, watched two piggy backs and a wandering Jew go pfft in her palms. The Boston Fern caught fire when two vines rubbed together creating sparks. Talk about tinder box conditions.

The last of the great robber barons constructed our cozy cottage. Among their shortcuts to savings was insulation. They waited for the company canary to moult then scooped the feathers and raked them over our attic. Which means that down below we have the greenhouse effect.

Even the ants in the cupboards died last week. I was five days sleeping in a rickety outdoor patio lounge while dogs barked, mosquitos dined, and night-flying birds did the unmentionable.

In those five days we ate hot dogs three times and hamburgers once. It was too hot to switch on the oven. We had a salad the other evening.

The dog escaped from the yard on four occasions, but returned within an hour. It was too hot to roam.

We didn't live in the house those five days because the thermometer slipped off the edge of the map and I perspired brushing my teeth. It was simply a place to shower and change in the morning, a stop for popsicles and ice water at lunch, and a jumping off point after work for the nearest body of cool water.

We wandered aimlessly in search of relief. There was none. The newspapers told us that fog was creeping up on the coast every evening. But all we found in San Francisco were 80 degree temperatures and a guy wearing white pumps and a flowered housecoat. He was hot too, and it was influencing his behavior.

The heat even claimed our car last Thursday. It died on I-580 at 11 p.m., right in front of the Rowell Ranch rodeo grounds.

There are no pay telephones there. No lights either. Just a rocky service road rutted by those monstrous earth movers that are changing the face of Dublin canyon.

Clad in bathing suits, without shoes, and the dog under my arm, we walked for a mile and a half along that road. Given a different set of circumstances, it was the perfect evening for a stroll.

But my mind raced with figures — $250 for a head gasket, a cracked engine block at $700, or maybe $1,500 if a drowsy truck driver wandered over to

Hindsight/Foresight

Parade demise?

Last Sunday's Bicentennial-theme parade in Pleasanton may have been the last Fair-time parade to be organized and held locally.

Sponsored by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Festival Committee in cooperation with the Pleasanton Jaycees, Alameda County Fair Association, Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, Red Carpet Realty and Kaiser Sand and Gravel, the parade will become a non-entity when the Bicentennial committee completes its duties.

And that would be a shame. Oppressive heat and the shadow of the county employees' strike combined to limit attendance and participation in the parade Sunday.

A lot of dedicated people worked hundreds of hours to put the parade on. But Sunday may have been the swan song.

Over the years the valley, and Pleasanton in particular, has gotten the reputation of being parade-happy — in the best sense.

We have received many comments, good and bad, on both the "Fair parade" and the "Good Times parade."

It is our thought that the Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce should start thinking about whether there'll be such a parade in '77.

If just one parade is to survive, we would rather see the one heralding the Fair live on rather than the three-year old "Good Times" parade sponsored by Radio KNBR in San Francisco.

We have ventured the opinion in recent months that local parade enthusiasts might want to strike a bargain with KNBR for next year, encouraging a change of parade dates and holding one parade just prior to the Fair opening.

With the Bicentennial committee out of the picture next year, the prime groups left include the chamber, Jaycees, and the Alameda County Fair Association.

The latter long ago said it wanted "out" of the sponsorship picture that leaves the two local groups... or some other valley group... or KNBR.

But consideration should be given immediately before we get too far away from the event.

The popularity of the parade cannot be judged by Sunday's turnout.

The basic underlying fact is that such events bring people into the area who patronize valley merchants. The parade at Fair-time has become an annual hypo to the valley economy — albeit a small one.

Like the Livermore Rodeo, it has become an institution.

There are probably any number of cities or civic groups on "the other side of the hill" who would dearly love to scoop up the Fair parade and place it in their community.

The proverbial iron is hot for just such an action.

Letters to the Times

Save resources

Editor, The Times:

This year Americans will throw out 150 million tons of resource-containing garbage — an average of nearly 1400 pounds per person. If we recycled our household garbage, the U.S. would save the equivalent of 400,000 barrels of oil per day, seven percent of our iron, eight percent of our aluminum, and 14 percent of our paper.

The U.S. Senate is about to vote on the Solid Waste Utilization Act. It gives EPA a regulatory role to control hazardous waste collection, treatment and disposal. EPA could also make grants to states for solid waste management programs and to local governments for solid waste systems and source reduction programs.

One amendment would require a 5 cent deposit on beer and soft drink containers and prohibit flip tops. Another amendment would change the words "source reduction" to "resource conservation," a somewhat weaker definition.

If you wish to express your support for this bill, call or wire Senator Allan Cranston promptly, as the bill has been moved up. Such an action can be effective in encouraging legislators to act with responsibility in planning for the nation's future. As we celebrate our 200th birthday let us endeavor to focus our attention on the future as well as recalling past accomplishments.

Lois R. Hill
Livermore

Angry teachers

Editor, The Times:

Ron McNicoll in "The Angry Reporter" has stated my feelings about newspapers' so well, I thank you!

The battle of newspaper integrity is the battle of "democracy" — it's been on the wane for awhile.

The teachers battle is far from "won." Until the Superintendent of schools receives a salary no higher than the highest paid teacher, and the principal receives a salary no higher than the average of all the teachers in his school, the business of teaching is secondary to the politics of the community and the children react to the priority.

I am not, have never been and will never be a teacher.

Nina Smith

Bad beards

Editor, The Times:

Never, I repeat Never, have I been so humiliated! I wrote a letter to the President of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, starting the Beard and Mustache Growing Contest June 15, 1976.

You were asked to use the "Bad Mann" picture, and I believed you would put this article and picture in a prominent place in your paper, Not On The Back Page!

Now, you put a picture (on page four) of four clowns (especially the one without the tie), changing the date and making Bad Mann look even Badder ... Are you prejudiced?

Even working out of town, I feel I have earned better treatment than that! I await your apology or at least your reply.

BAD MANN

(Ted Mann was once Pleasanton's beard grower and chamber booster extraordinaire. Now that he has been kicked upstairs to a San Francisco office, he thinks he's front page copy. — Editor.)

Zone 7 winner

Editor, The Times:

I would like to thank the many voters who supported me in the recent Zone 7 election. It was certainly the hardest fought campaign in the history of Zone 7, and one in which several well qualified candidates failed to win election. I would also like to congratulate the other newly elected board members, Ed Kinney and Gib Marguth.

I am especially grateful to the many people who worked so hard for my election, and I invite all citizens to discuss their thoughts with me so that I can more effectively represent them as a member of the Zone 7 board.

Archer Futch

The basic weapon of 18th-century land warfare was the larger-caliber, smooth-bore, flintlock musket. It was awkward, slow and unpredictable in performance. The flintlock was usually silenced by rain or snow, a fact which contributed to the practice of non-engagement between armies in the winter months. The World Almanac recalls

round the town

And so the vacation ends. We're back in the land of Free Enterprise and million dollar baseball players. Back where our president can't be ousted by the fickle whim of Commons, but where even Charlie Finley is subject to the wishes of his left fielder.

Ah yes, the differences between these United States and that United Kingdom are great. And thank God they are, for otherwise there would be no reason for Americans to want to visit over there, and no burning curiosity among the Britishers over such as — "Does Shirley Temple really have ambassadorial qualities, or is it all part of the Hollywood takeover?"

But always, in all their conversation, the printed word, the televised commentary, there is that underlying British humor. "You get the feeling the English like nothing so much as a good joke, particularly when the laugh's on them," one American visitor surmised.

When your capital city has been blitzed, when families have been laid asunder, and when the defeated German is able to flaunt his money in stores that are out of reach to most Englishers, then perhaps a good sense of humor is essential to survival. That, and the North Sea oil reserves, is just about all Britishers have to be happy about, these days.

Or so it would seem to the dollar-prone American. But our life style is a world apart from theirs. About as different as a genteel game of cricket on the green and "American tackle football" played on the frozen midwest turf in "the middle of your bloody cold winter."

You see that difference in so many little ways. The shower head that is an afterthought of uncertain installation in English bathrooms. Or the fact that almost no bathrooms are heated, but all towel racks are.

The absence of great parking expanses in congested areas, and the shock when you actually see a service station, tucked discreetly off some side street ... The endless streams of people crowding the downtown sidewalks, but the relatively light sales action evident inside those stores ... The impressive network of surface and underground public transit, but which is also the target of biting "letters to the editor" from Britishers who think they deserve better.

For the truth is that, while the pound sterling nations have had to lower their economy, they have never compromised their traditional values. You see this in the National Theatre, a post-war complex of stages that will soon make possible four or more performances in a single evening before audiences in excess of 3000, arranged in comfort that is far beyond the best available in San Francisco or New York.

You sense it in the magnificent restoration of the bombed-out House of Commons, a project of unmitigated pride for a nation whose factories must still operate with pre-war technology.

For it is only when you can comprehend the depth of "British tradition" that you begin to get a handle on what it was that built The Empire, and what it is that keeps those people going, despite everything.

And so you look past the problems of the pound and the debate over "the questionable luxury of retaining the Monarch," and you remember instead the beautiful places and the unforgettable moments in those lovely Isles ...

Entering Westminster Abbey just as Evening Prayer Service was to begin, to share the intimacy of that inner chapel with 40 members of the choir, small boys' voices challenging the height and the depth of that storied place ... Climbing the long flight of stairs to "The Strangers Gallery" in anticipation of a session of the House of Commons, while Big Ben tolls the 11th hour start for those proceedings, a tradition, like so many others, which has not changed one minute in almost 500 years ...

Walking London's South Bank in the late-hour twilight, as pleasure boats ply The Thames, sending back the glitter of light and the sound of ship-board party music ... Sharing that crescendo of excitement as Nureyev prepares to come on stage at the Coliseum, one of his 36 performances in 42 exhausting days, a climax of talent and theatre-going response that is perhaps without equal ...

Trafalgar Square at high noon ... the throngs of people moving through Piccadilly Circus, including the long lunch-hour line into London's first MacDonald's ... the feeling of quiet awe as you approach St Paul's Cathedral ... the touch of shame as your foot touches the step where Dr. Samuel Johnson once passed, as he too entered the Cheshire Cheese pub which still today offers lunch and a pint of ale ...

Driving along the left side of County Cork roads that wind through great canyons of rhododendron, growing in wild Irish abandon for fully four months of that lovely land's summer ... and gaining our first glimpse of the Lakes of Killarney as we rolled past scene upon scene of post-card countryside.

Then there was that moment close by Buckingham Castle's gates when the queen and her colorful guards emerged for the Trooping of the Colour ... the Bobbies and other gardsmen spaced every three feet along that mile route ... "security that only just started with this Irish mess," they will tell you, apologetically. But they want you to know that "this crisis will pass, just as all the others have." For this is a land built on crises, and the timeless pageant of conflict and victory.

The die - hard Britisher would have you believe this is the way it will always be. You leave that country hoping that they will triumph once more, for this is a place too precious, a reservoir of history too vital, to now be lost.

astrograph

For Wednesday, June 30, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Speculative situations are not your long suit today. Even if you get a tempting inside tip, avoid it if it carries any type of risk.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
If you're buying a high-priced home item, take time to get exactly what you want or you may have to live with a costly mistake.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Don't flaunt your knowledge in conversation with one who may not be as bright as you. Others will be sympathetic to your target.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You're still not the master of your budget today. Before you write a check, make sure you're not robbing Peter to pay Paul.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Today you could easily be taken in by someone with great form but little substance. Approach new acquaintances with an open mind and a critical eye.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Utilize your common sense in business dealings today. Don't trust the analysis of others who may have less knowledge.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You may act hastily to accomplish something, without making sure the time is ripe. You could mess up your chances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Priorities are most important to you today. If your aims overlap, the possibilities of success diminish considerably.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Those you're likely to listen to today are the ones with all the wrong answers. Truth and convincing phrases are not synonymous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't farm out work or have services done today without checking out people and prices. A wrong choice could prove expensive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
It would be a mistake today to rely too heavily on recently acquired allies. These relationships need more firming-up before testing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Be very sensible about health matters today. If you know the mustard and onions always upset you, eat your hot dog plain.

Sims makes it look so easy

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Perfect technique in dummy play is something all experts strive to attain. Forty-five years ago no one had it, but Hal Sims came mighty close.

Today's hand shows Hal at work. Most players would simply go down one and complain about their misfortune in the diamond suit. Hal made the hand without any ceremony at all.

East's ace and king of clubs held the first two tricks. He led his last club.

Ask the Jacobys

A Georgia reader wants to know the correct response to a one-diamond opening bid with:

♠ K Q x x x ♥ x 10 x x x A x x x x

This is a tough one. You prefer to respond in your longest suit, but with only nine high-card points you don't want to go to the two level.

Hence, your correct response is one spade.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dublin High reunion for first class

DUBLIN — The first graduating class at Dublin High School, the Class of 1971, will hold its first reunion July 10 from 7:30 to midnight at the Holiday House in Hayward.

Class members wishing to attend the dinner should contact Mrs. Becky Marks Chandler at 828-1725.

All's well that protects underground cables

So you think your home is your castle? The utility companies don't see it that way. To them, the neat little three-bedroom is just a building sitting atop a crisscross of underground wires, cables and pipes.

Running underground are thousands of miles of cables, conduit and pipelines conveying electricity, telephone circuits, water, gas, petroleum and sewage. In suburbs, they run parallel to main roads and existing pole lines and also run through private right-of-ways.

And they're constantly getting dug up and destroyed.

It's a headache for an oil company or a utility plant when a line gets cut, so 40 companies in Alameda, Contra Costa and Sacramento Counties have banded together to form "USA" — Underground Service Alert. They have a toll-free number, 800 642-0123, that people can call to find out where the lines lie on their property before they put in a well, dig a foundation or otherwise tear up the earth.

Mori is optimistic state budget to move

The Assembly is conferring with the Senate on school financing measures in an effort to swing eight balking Democrats in line on passage of the state budget.

Assemblyman Floyd Mori, one of the legislators who voted against the budget, said there could be some action today on getting the whole issue resolved.

Mori and the other seven were not happy with financing of state school measures. They want to see a bill passed granting additional aid of $61 per pupil to school districts and additional pension benefits for teachers and other school district employees before they will assent to passing the budget.

The new budget goes into effect tomorrow though it's possible to coast along for a month or so without one which is approved officially, said Mori.

Gaels rally, beat 'Dogs

Dublin, pressed to the limit throughout the entire going, cleaned up its act with 1:45 remaining in the final period in edging Martinez in Pleasanton Summer League Basketball last night at Amador High.

Final score was 62-61. As indicated by the final tally, this one was by no means finished until the final seven minutes. 1:45 to be exact.

That's when Martinez' inspiring guard Stan Van Gundy fouled out. After that sequence, his club down 58-57, never could put together anything worthy of a rally.

Van Gundy finished with 28 points to lead all scorers. Just his personal brilliance kept Martinez in the game. In fact, they stayed ahead of the Gaels much of the first and second half.

Van Gundy drove the lane, dished and off a fifth and at times played a run and gun, which for the most part kept Martinez in contention.

Dublin's Harris was runner-up in total scoring with 19 points, nine of which came in the climatic fourth quarter. Colleague Ed La Perle followed with 13 points, 11 coming in the second half.

Meanwhile, in the initial match of the second week, Hayward defeated San Ramon, 47-26, defending the Grizzlies to only 10 second half points.

As can be expected, in summer league ball, action can be a bit rusty. It certainly was in the Grizzly-Mariner match.

A bucket was not scored until 4:29 showing in the first quarter when Ed Richmond of Hayward drove the baseline with a lay-in to score two points.

From that point on, Hayward was in complete control, despite the turnovers, mis-rebounds, and poor shot selection. Driving culminated in nothing but fouls for the Grizzlies.

Not to be outdone, San Ramon came within three points of Hayward on a 21-18, on a fine three-point play by Dan Nelson in the early-going of the third quarter. That was it.

The play provided all of San Ramon's third-period points.

Coliseum next?

Horse Racing will begin today at the Alameda County Fairgrounds after a strike by Service Employees International against the county had forced cancellation of the meeting's first two days.

After an injunction was granted by Superior Court Judge George Phillips late yesterday afternoon, Fair Secretary - Manager Lee Hall signaled go for the 12-race program.

Judge Phillips' ruling banned all but informational picketing, but did not delete the word "picketing," thus the unions will still post representatives at Fairgrounds gates.

The resumption of fair circuit racing ending speculation that the Pleasanton stop would not be made at all.

Early in the county workers strike, a group of horsemen had been rejected in an attempt to get the 12-days moved to Golden Gate Fields in Albany. And yesterday, race track sources had told the Times that if racing did not begin by the end of the week, it would not begin at all.

The removal of non-informational pickets from the Fairgrounds may not mean the end of SEIU attempts to shut down county sporting events, however.

Contacted after Judge Phillips ruling yesterday, Shirley Campbell, chief spokeswoman for the strikers left open the possibility that the Oakland - Alameda County Coliseum, home of the Oakland Athletics embattled baseball team and the Golden Gaters tennis squad as well as numerous non-sporting events, could become a target for future picketing.

"We picketed the fairgrounds because there were county workers and county vehicles operating inside the gates right in the middle of the strike," she said, explaining why the Fair and not the Coliseum was originally picketed.

"But, we have a whole list of alternative things to do," she continued, indicating that picketing of the Coliseum, which generates far more funds for the county, was still a possibility.

Maybe we should picket the Coliseum," she reflected.

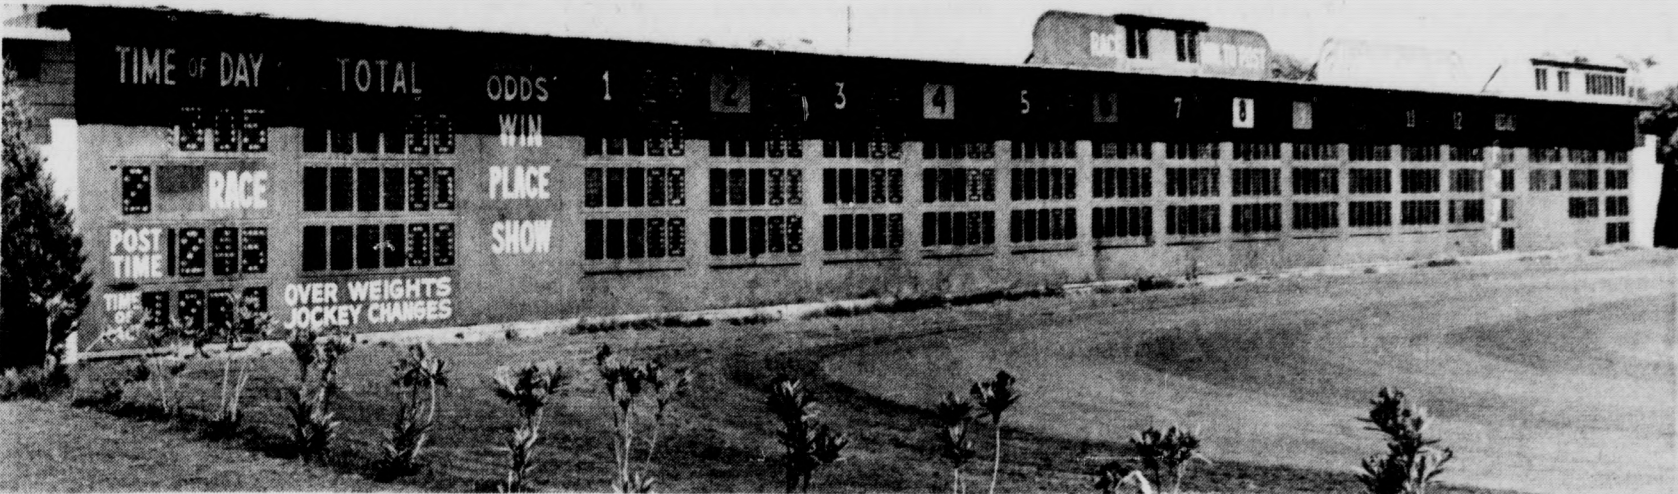

Back at the track, six added-money events remain on the abbreviated racing card, including the $25,000 - added Alamedan Handicap on closing day.

The feature race on today's card will be the $7500 City of Fresno Purse, contested by a miniature field of five. Scheduled to start are Roll Your Own, Morning Came, Asian Admiral, Alscactus Room and Prince O' Spring.

Enrique Munoz, leading pilot at both Golden Gate and the recently concluded Solano County Fair will be aboard Asian Admiral.

Pleasanton's red hot Dale Long, who rode 10 winners in 18 tries in the combined quarter horse - appaloosa competition will ride a trio of probable post time favorite Wrr Fall Breeze, Marble Man and Moraga Rocket.

Slugging Yankees stall Pistons, 17-0

The Photo Plant Yankees, representing Pleasanton American Little League, ripped 14 base hits enroute to a 17-0 whitewash of Dublin's Auto Supply Pistons in opening round action of district 57 Minor Invitational play at Charlotte Wood School in Danville.

Pleasanton sent 11 batters to the box in the third inning, the key blows a three-run triple by Steve Hickey and a two-run triple by Randy Gibson.

A trio of Pleasanton pitchers, John Schwartzman, Steve Rogers and Kevin Moyer combined to hold the Dubliners hitless for 5½ innings before the Pistons' Chris Molz chopped a sharp grounder off the glove of Moyer on a 3-2 pitch to erase the no-hit bid.

Dublin loaded the bases twice off of the Yankees but failed to score. In the third inning, walks to Ricky Dowell, Keith Rollins and Steve Molz loaded the bags before Dowell was thrown out at the plate on a steal attempt. The final stanza saw the Dubliners load them again before Moyer fanned Russell Grimes to end the game.

Forest, 20-11

The Forresters of Livermore unleashed one of their best offensive attacks of the season and routed the Fremont American Falcons, 20-11 at Newark High School last night.

Livermore scored five runs in the first inning and never trailed in the contest. Erwin Panusch pounded out four hits and three RBIs to spark the winners' attack. Tim Vanderpool, who was also the winning pitcher, added three hits. Vanderpool went the first three innings before Terry Harron finished the game with a fine relief job.

The Forresters scored six runs in both the third and fourth innings. The Falcons scored five runs in the final stanza to close the gap.

Dodgers, 11-6

Dublin Valley's Mets lost their opening round Minor TOC game to the Centerville National Dodgers, 11-6.

Centerville's Mike Trippett fanned 11 batters and walked only two, as Dublin managed 10 hits, the same amount as Centerville.

Chris Aguirre lashed three hits and two RBIs for the winners, while Trippett added two singles and two RBIs.

Dublin Valley's Chris Plain, Jeff Johnson and Darren Dickie all managed two hits, Johnson and Dickie adding two RBIs. Howie Frank also singled for Dublin.

Centerville scored four times in the last inning to break open what was a close game.

Allied Brokers blasted 19 hits as it rolled over Twilight Zone 11-6.

Ernie Moniz, Carl Dile,

Gail Hudson and John Evans each had three hits for Allied Brokers. The winners trailed 5-0 after the first inning but a five-run rally in the fifth inning put them out ahead 8-5. Three more runs in the sixth secured the win.

Mike Grow led the losers with four hits. John Crostwite added two hits.

Umland plates three as PNLN romps

Lefty Jim Ford fired a four-hitter while Bob Umland swatted two hits and three RBI's as Pleasanton National romped to an easy 12-2 opening round victory over Livermore American in Senior Little League District 57 TOC play.

Robin Dijos also smacked a two-run double and made an outstanding play at catcher, throwing out a Livermore base-runner attempting to advance.

Ed Nakagawa also blasted a two-run double and finished the evening with two hits.

For Livermore American Rick Sinkes got three of the four hits for the losers. Mike Brown picked up the other safety.

Pleasanton jumped off to 12-0 lead and coasted to victory.

Dublin scored in every inning and pounded out 21 hits while crushing Pleasanton, 23-6, in the first round of Senior League's Tournament of Champions yesterday at Monte Vista High.

Dublin advances to Newark Thursday while Pleasanton returns to Monte Vista Saturday in the two-game elimination tourney.

The losers of the initial game put a run on the board in its first at bat but the dominating Cubs retaliated with four in its first turn and never let up.

Dublin tallied twice in the second and third innings to build unsurmountable 8-1 lead before putting the Cubs away with an eight run fourth.

Willie Largenhuzen and pitcher Tom Pearson each stroked four hits for the Angels while Dan Pearson rapped a three-run homer.

Rick Rosenbach contributed a single, double and triple in the onslaught while teammate Mark Rigney also punched three hits.

Dan Pearson, Mike Calairio and Doug Daugherty slapped two hits apiece as Mark Starziak was the only Cub without a hit.

Pat Moyer, who suffered through much of the barrage after relieving Chris Peters with the bases loaded in the dreadful fourth, was the lone Angel with two safeties. Moyer clubbed an RBI single in the first before pounding a double in the last inning.

Pearson surrendered only five hits while striking out seven and walking eight.

Others credited with hits for the losers were Al Parent, Mike Rounds and Chad Bailey.

Dub. V. 19-0

Greg Gary tossed a one-hit shutout as Dublin Valley rocked Centerville, 19-0, in opening-round play of District 57 Senior Little League TOC action last night.

Kelly Bolton was superb at the plate, knocking a home run and three hits and two RBI's to lead the Dublin attack.

Robin Ropoto was near-perfect, swatting four hits in five trips to the plate for the winners. Ken Major also had three hits for Dublin.

Gary, in picking up the shutout win, fanned nine batters and walked four.

Lone Star, 1-0

Robbie Bowers blasted a fourth inning home run over center field to give Lone Star of Livermore a 1-0 win over the Fremont American Giants at Newark High School last night.

However, the victory did not come easy. In the seventh inning the Giants' Rob Castillo walked and then Josh Hendrex belted a long drive between left and center field. Lone Star left fielder Dave Criss then threw the ball to third baseman Roger Bower chased Castillo down between third and home and tagged him.

Brian Swailes was the winning pitcher, striking out eight batters, allowing just three hits and walking five.

Roger Bowers and Jerry Bacon got the other Lone Star hits.

What was fantastic about the Lone Star victory was their youth. The Livermore club had six players 13 years old, four that were 14 and only one who was 15. In contrast two of the Giants' three pitchers were 15 and the other one was 14.

Grijalva, Goss star

Country Market, behind the strong pitching of Keith Grijalva and Herb Goss, will be the Livermore National Little League representative at the Tournament of Champions, beginning July 13 in Pleasanton.

Country Market finished the season at 19-2, closing out the year with an 8-6 win over AirCon, who came into the game tied with Country Market for first place. The game was a replay of a tie contest earlier in the year.

Country Market scored the winning run on a double by Paul Sandoval, who drove in Jeff Waters with the winner. Sandoval scored an insurance run on Jeff Bryant's ground ball.

Grijalva fanned the only three batters he faced in the bottom of the inning to sew up the win.

Liv. Babe Ruth

Gardella's Liquors played close to perfection in taking a 22-2 victory over LLLRA in Livermore action Monday.

The winners collected 17 hits to just three for LLLRA. Jeff Hoffman belted a home run for the winners in the fifth inning, driving in three runs. Marty DeBrum made two top defensive plays for the winners. He threw out Dan Gill at the plate to end the contest.

In a slugfest Winchell's steamrollered St. Mikes 21-12, belting 16 hits in the process.

Greg Goss had four hits (one double) and five RBI's for Winchell's. Wes Karch added three hits and one RBI. Greg Bruce had two hits and Tim Mayer one.

Carl Reasoner, Brad Burnham and Rocky DeCaffano each had two hits for St. Mikes.

Wes Karch was the winning pitcher and Tim Mayer took the defeat.

Stopped toilet closes Cal pool

The San Ramon Olympic Swimming Pool, a Valley Community Services District facility located adjacent to California High School, was closed yesterday by Contra Costa County health officials.

A broken sewer pipe in the men's locker room, allegedly stopped up for months, was listed as the reason for the closure.

The move, predicted for months as inevitable by local swimming coaches, leaves both the NorCal Aquatics and Pleasanton Thunderbirds age group teams temporarily homeless and forces local residents to look elsewhere for a cooling off spot during this particularly hot summer.

No time estimate was available as to when the one-year old pool will reopen.

Van Fossen flags 4th

Rich Van Fossen of Livermore finished fourth in the main event at Stockton Raceway Saturday night.

In the third heat he spun out and did not place. Van Fossen will compete at the raceway again this Saturday.

In action at Vallejo last Saturday Randy Gummus of Livermore crashed into a barrier on the last lap and finished second in the 20-lap Street Stock feature race. Jim Perry was the winner. Gummus has never won a main event.

Valley residents pitched in Guatemalan aid

Californians contributed more than $57,000 to Guatemalan earthquake victims through Bank of America's offices.

Touched by the plight of residents of Livermore's sister city, Quezaltenango, Valley residents contributed to a relief fund this spring, through BofA and through local churches. A report on what was done with some of the funds was released by BofA's world headquarters in San Francisco.

More than 300,000 people received emergency food from combined relief efforts in the first five days, according to CARE - Guatemala director William Salas.

"Since that fateful day of the first quake, $100,000 worth of medical supplies have been distributed, as well as 20,000 blankets much needed in the highlands where night temperatures often drop to near freezing," Salas wrote in a report.

CARE supervised relief activities in Chimaltenangom the most severely damaged zone. Donated vehicles were pressed into service as ambulances in the first days, before U.S. helicopters arrived. The United States air - lifted a complete 100 - bed hospital, equipped to handle all emergency cases, into the area.

CARE provided food for each patient. Blankets were flown in from CARE - Honduras, and donations from Panama and local Guatemala citizens added to the supplies.

Among the supplies were Civil Defense hospital equipment shipped from Livermore to the stricken country.

Currently, Guatemelans are rebuilding their country. Some 25,000 families are engaged in reconstructing their homes. Another 1,000 are involved in public works projects. CARE is providing wheelbarrows, picks, shovels, hammers, saws, and corrugated galvanized zinc roofing.

Eighty - one water systems serving 141,700 people have been rebuilt.

Salas continued, more than 20 per cent of the Guatemalan people are still without shelter and safe water supplies. CARE aims to help with construction of 26,000 "core" homes and 150 water systems.

Contributors to CARE through BofA branches may receive a copy of this report by writing the Public Relations Department No. 3124, Bank of America, 555 California St., San Francisco 94104.

Doctor duo wins court ruling for 11 new sewer connections

PLEASANTON — Judge Robert Bostick has ruled that Pleasanton must grant 11 sewer connections to Doctors Edward Schlies and Donald Clementson for their property on Santa Rita Road.

The court applied the doctrine of equitable estoppel to the case and ruled that the doctors had relied on the city for information about the proper sewer plant for their land and had not been informed properly by the city.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig told The Times yesterday that he had problems with the court decision. The doctors were aware of the 1972 sewer agreement and they didn't think it applied to them, said Scheidig.

"Estoppel implies we misled them," said the City Attorney. "We didn't. The evidence was clear we tried to warn them."

Scheidig said that it was an uphill battle for the city from the beginning. "The court does not equate the doctors as developers," said Scheidig. "Somehow there was a duty on the city that they should not proceed with this development. I think the doctors could have and should have informed themselves."

Schlies' attorney, Alan Grossman, said the 1972 agreement loomed large in the case, but for a reason which may have escaped Scheidig. "Testimony showed the 1972 agreement was important. But the agreement and its priority list were never considered by the city in making their recommendations on holding tanks," said Grossman. The upshot was that the doctors were left out in the cold when it came to knowing where (Sunol plant of VCS plant) their sewer connections would come from. The next step is for Grossman to write a finding of facts and judgment, which will be submitted to Scheidig for comment and then returned to the judge. After that process, Scheidig will be able to recommend to the city council whether an appeal on the decision is warranted.

Livermore Fourth of July

Entertainment and lots of it is planned for the gala Fourth of July Bicentennial Celebration in Livermore Sunday. One of the featured events will be the Golden Statesmen who render your favorite songs in old-fashioned harmony. Also scheduled are other singing, dancing and musical groups including a puppet show by Mike Davis and the valley's own Eagle Square folk dancers.

All entertainment — as well as the games planned for Sunday — will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. at May Nissen Park. The day will start off with a parade from Rincon Avenue School to which everybody is invited to march in and Livermore's celebration of the nation's 200th birthday will culminate with a spectacular fireworks display at Robertson Park.

Livermore reports $1,211.48 in aid to annual parade cost

LIVERMORE — A total of $1,211.48 of in-kind services were provided by the City of Livermore for the annual Rodeo parade, according to tabulations made by the city's maintenance superintendent.

A memo from Superintendent Carl T. Carlin to the public works director lists expenses for the June 5 event at $849.48 for the labor and overhead for seven men; $62, three pick-up trucks; $195, two flat-bed trucks; $87.50, sweeper, and $17.50, rental of signs and barricades. The list does not include the rental of 75 barricades, Carlin pointed out.

The city council released the tabulation of Livermore's costs for the parade to show that the city indeed does help support the event which is sponsored by the Livermore Jaycees.

The Jaycees approached the council in late March for $1,500 to help finance the parade but was turned down. The council pointed to a depleted city budget in its denial and was subject to an outburst of criticism from segments of the community and local press.

During the furor, the council contended it contributes to the parade through in-kind city services.

County OKs record budget, up $30 million from 75-76

Alameda County Bureau OAKLAND — County supervisors narrowly passed a $409 million budget for 1976-77 yesterday that may add six cents to the current tax rate.

The record spending is $2.2 million more than recommended by county administrator Loren Enoch, and is $30 million above the current year's spending.

The board turned down a move by supervisor Tom Bates that would have postponed a decision on the budget until after the current county employees' strike is settled.

Bates argued for a financial impact statement on the strike before the final vote. Funds for any salary increases granted in a settlement with the strikers would have to be flushed from other accounts.

Supervisor Charles Santana joined Bates, saying "It would be fine with me if we could extend (the deadline) until the strike's over. I have mixed feelings."

The budget must be approved by today, but Bates proved by today, but Bates

The board will offset its spending with $6.1 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

Enoch's original proposal could be financed with the current $3.10 per $100 of assessed value tax rate and an overall 12 per cent increase in property values.

But the board's final budget will require both the assessment hike and a $3.16 per $100 tax rate. The combination will increase county property taxes by about 17 per cent.

Last year's $40,000 home garnered $257 for the county, but with both the increased value and rate hike, the county will collect $310 in 1976-77.

The tax rate will be set in August or September once the county has balanced its books from this past year's spending.

Changes in state and federal spending programs and the net effect of the 29-day-old strike may alter the county's year end balance.

and Santana were willing to pass an emergency ordinance to grant an extension.

Valley supervisor John D. Murphy's motion to approve the budget passed when he was joined by Joseph Bort and board chairman Fred Cooper.

Supervisors added $425,000 to Enoch's recommendations to cover non-monetary demands by striking employees who want permanent shift scheduling at hospitals and reduced welfare case loads.

Another $1 million had to be added because of a recent court decision forcing counties to offer general assistance to "young adults."

Counties had refused the assistance on grounds 18-through 21-year-olds are not legally adults, but the courts ruled otherwise.

The board also granted an additional $200,000 to mental health services, paring down an original $277,400 request from the total $12.9 million allocation.

LAVWMA board to review EPA's comment on pipeline

LIVERMORE — The Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) Board of Directors meets today to review the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) comments on the LAVWMA effluent disposal pipeline — provided they receive the EPA's comments in time.

The EPA and LAVWMA have developed an environmental impact statement on LAVWMA's pipeline project. All that remains to complete the EIS is comments by the EPA telling what kind of a project it will support.

LAVWMA has opted for a pipeline sized to accommodate average effluent flows, with surge ponds to handle peak flow periods. The Alameda County Board of Supervisors has been pressuring LAVWMA to build a pipeline sized to handle peak flows.

LAVWMA Chairwoman Lila Euler said she anticipates the EPA will approve the project as LAVWMA has specified. "As of last week I was assured there was no way the EPA would rewrite the EIS without LAVWMA's asking them to," she said.

But until LAVWMA learns for sure which project EPA will approve, LAVWMA cannot finalize its project financing plans.

How to finance the project will also be discussed today. Several options are available to the board. The joint powers agreement between the LAVWMA agencies (Livermore, Pleasanton and Valley Community Services District) now stipulates that any project costing more than $1.5 million in local share and larger than 13 million gallons of effluent per day must be submitted to the voters for approval.

The LAVWMA project

exceeds both those criteria. LAVWMA officials need to decide within the next month which option they will pursue. The construction schedule calls for the measure to be submitted to the voters in this November's general election.

In order to get the measure on the ballot, the Board of Supervisors must receive a formal request from LAVWMA by Aug. 20.

Pleasanton board to adopt new $6.6 million budget?

PLEASANTON — A $6.6 million tentative budget will be up for adoption by the Pleasanton Joint School District board at tonight's meeting.

Slated to convene at 7:30 p.m., trustees may also consider ordering a recount of the revenue limit increase election held June 8.

According to Superintendent Bruce Newlin, latest figures from the county elections division show a difference of 40 votes, "no" over "yes."

The measure required a simple majority vote for passage. Original vote figures released showed the "no" vote on top by 24.

Newlin and Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services, estimate ordering a recount would cost the district between $100 and $150.

Any resident of the district, however, could ask for a recount.

The tentative budget figure is up slightly more than $118,000 from the 1975-76 adjusted budget.

Old Style

The fastest-growing Premium Beer in America.

If you really like beer, you owe it to yourself to try this one. Old Style is brewed in God's Country. Where the skies are clear, the air is clean and crisp and the sparkling, pure spring water flows from deep beneath the ground (some say all the way from Canada). We use this sparkling pure water to brew Old Style the traditional Old World way, in a process called "kraeusening," the most natural and the most expensive way to brew beer. Which means Old Style is double-brewed and pure-brewed (When you brew a beer once, you've got a good beer. But when you brew a beer twice, you've got a great, light beer). Old Style is the only premium beer in America today that is fully kraeusened. Small wonder we're America's fastest growing premium beer. SIX PACK CANS—$1.39/BOTTLES—6/1.39

Kenneth Way of Livermore placed first and David Woods of Livermore second in color prints section, professional division, of the Fair photography exhibition.

In monochrome prints, class 3 portraits, amateur division, Barbara Mallon of Livermore won a blue ribbon with her "Puppy Love" print.

The color prints, class 1, professional division were Robert Thomas of Pleasanton, with a third-place ribbon for "Misty." Honorable mention went to Woods for "Three Boats" and David Proffitt of Livermore for "Ducking the Sunset."

Accepted entries and winners will be on display in the photography area, adjacent to the Mineral and Gem Building, through July 11.

In the amateur divisions, the following valley photographers received ribbons:

Awards in monochrome and color prints and colored slides, all general, went to entrants from Hayward, Daly City, Fremont, San Lorenzo, San Jose, Berkeley, and Piedmont.

Winner of the Bicentennial print or slide competition was Karen Eikland of Alameda with her entry entitled "Spirit of '76."

Vandals ruin Fair parade award to Harvey McMahan

PLEASANTON — Vandals destroyed 11 trees at the civic center early this week.

The trees were valued at $15 each when they were planted two years ago. Funds for them came from individuals and community groups.

The trees were located along the extension of Harrison Street in front of the civic center. The trunks measured up to three inches in diameter.

PLEASANTON — Harvey Lee McMahan won the plaudits of judges in the fancy dress, senior, division of mounted entries in Sunday's Bicentennial theme parade.

The fancy dress, junior, award went to Darlene Herbert with Lori Papadopoulos and Bev Harris second and third, respectively.

Runnerups to McMahan were Rosemarie Lopez and Carolyn Downing.

Marge O'Steen received the judges' nod for top award in parade horse, senior, and Nancy Valdez picked up the top prize in the mounted group division. Placing second was Ward Woolridge riding Red Barn Wrangler.

In matched pairs judging, Sandy Horat and Julie Sullivan were tops with second award going to Janice Nidick and Lori Escovar.

The working cowgirl class was paced by Mrs. Helen Bouvie, with Rickey Camara and Paulette DeMello second and third, respectively.

Mounted color guard entries were numerous but the Women's Auxiliary of the Cattleman's Association prevailed with Peggy Plato receiving the award.

Patricia Hopkins of B.R. of L. was second and Forsters of America, Court 77 and Companions were third.

Dee Gibson was adjudged best in pony drawn vehicles with Jack Wilson and the Walbridge Family earning second and third, respectively.

Laurie Isaacson earned a first-place award in the other mounted category. Julene Lowery was second. The impressive Alameda County Sheriffs Mounted Posse captured the sheriff's posse trophy.

Among the marching units and floats, the following entries won medals, trophies or ribbons:

Best Bicentennial novelty, Pleasanton Playhouse, first; Bucking Surrey of Livermore, second; Best Bicentennial novelty, 1776-1876, Fife and drum corps, first; Harvest Park School, second; Bicentennial Eagle of Harvest Park, third; Best Bicentennial decorated vehicle, Alameda float, first; Minitruckers, second; Senior, 1920-1950, Linda Coffin of Pleasanton; Most innovative costume, 1776-1876, Cavalry, first; Liberty Belles, second; Most innovative costume, junior, 1776-1876, Donna and Leonard Savino of Pleasanton portraying Betsy Ross and George Washington, first; Fancy Flappers, second; Antique cars, 1929 Duessenberg owned by John Thorpe of Hayward, first; 1912 Roadster, second.

City wants better taping equipment

PLEASANTON — City government will investigate the possibility of acquiring better tape recording equipment.

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire raised the issue Monday night after hearing complaints from residents who wanted to listen to a tape of a recent planning commission meeting. LeClaire reported the residents as saying they had trouble making out what was said at the meeting because commissioners' voices were so garbled by the recording equipment.

There also were complaints last night from citizens standing in the lobby that the loudspeaker in the lobby was not performing well.

On another item, council members decided that as Willow West develops on 364 acres east of Hopyard Road, they will check design review reports on buildings and pull up to the council level anything they don't like. The council chose this alternative rather than examine the city manager's negative declarations during the Environmental Impact Report stage of development.

Merit badge pamphlet for scouts

A new 48-page American Heritage merit badge pamphlet, filled with historical photos, colorful paintings and cartoons, is now available to Scouts, teachers, parents and Scoutmasters.

According to Herb Jensen, San Francisco Bay Area Council Scouting

Chairman the booklet will serve as a guide for Scouts during this year's festive bicentennial celebration and should prove to be one of the most popular in the series of 115 hobby and vocational pamphlets.

One of the requirements, Jensen says, is for Scouts to research local and national historic events and biographies, including the many national contributions of various ethnic, religious and racial groups in developing America and their community.

Written by the editors of the award-winning American Heritage Publishing Company, the pamphlet will also be of extreme assistance to high school students and college history and political science majors, as well as history and Americana buffs.

The pamphlet is available at your local Scout Distributors or Council Service Centers.

OVER 62

And now all World savers over 62 can enjoy free checking through a cooperating bank.

OF COURSE, YOU GET HIGH INTEREST, TOO

No bank or savings and loan pays higher interest than World on insured savings. In fact, your money will actually double in less than nine years in our $1,000 minimum 8.06%/7.75% certificate.

Our high interest rates on term accounts are guaranteed. You don't have to worry about recessions or market fluctuations. And accounts are insured to $40,000 or more.
